

International Programs and Activities

Study Abroad

Studying abroad allows students to develop the skills required to face society's grand challenges - deepen intercultural sensitivity, think more critically and creatively, and broaden both personal and academic perspectives. Distinguish yourself from your peers by developing skills in independence, flexibility, and the ability to deal with ambiguity. Make the world your classroom at NC State.

Study Abroad Programs

NC State offers programs worldwide that meet academic, career, and personal interests. Study Abroad is for every major: fulfill major, minor, or general education program courses abroad. Students should work with their academic advisor to identify a time frame and outline a course plan for study abroad. For all majors, with academic planning, study abroad does not delay graduation at NC State. View program options by major. (<http://go.ncsu.edu/studyabroadbymajor/>)

Funding Study Abroad

Study Abroad is affordable at NC State. Semester exchange programs provide the most economical option for most students since standard tuition and fees keep the cost of a semester abroad comparable to a semester on campus at NC State. Students are eligible to receive financial aid (including loans, grants, and scholarships) for the cost of any study abroad program. Study abroad scholarships provide additional funding to about 1/3 of applicants receiving an award, plus many other financial resources are available to support study abroad. View information about NC State Study Abroad Scholarships (<https://studyabroad.ncsu.edu/funding/nc-state-scholarships/>).

Applying for Study Abroad

With hundreds of opportunities to choose from—each differing in courses, duration, language, cost and location—early planning is key to a successful study abroad experience. Well-prepared students typically start planning a year in advance.

North Carolina Japan Center

The NC Japan Center was established in July 1980 to strengthen the state's academic, economic, scientific, and cultural ties with Japan. In its many aspects, the Center serves as a focal point for interaction between the people of Japan and North Carolinians. It is a statewide resource intended to assist all citizens, universities, companies, and public and private institutions in relations with the Japanese. The NC Japan Center works to inform people of the state about modern Japan and its people while providing information and resources for Japanese citizens living in North Carolina.

The Center is also steward of the Harry C. Kelly Memorial Fund (<https://japan.ncsu.edu/harry-c-kelly-memorial-fund/>) which provides annual scholarships and awards to NC State University students and faculty in STEM for learning experiences in, or related to, Japan. The Center also issues the prestigious Order of The Dogwood (<https://japan.ncsu.edu/order-of-the-dogwood/>) awards each semester to students earning degrees, minors, or certificates in Japanese and at least one more academic discipline.

Embracing NC State's "Think and Do" land-grant mission, the NC Japan Center supports statewide, regional, and local economic development agencies to attract Japanese businesses to North Carolina, as well as strengthen relationships between NC State University and academic partners in Japan. The Center's external Board of Advisors includes prominent citizens of North Carolina who have a strong interest in Japan and US-Japan relations, and its Academic Advisory Committee consists of faculty from colleges across the university who provide guidance and direction for academic exchange and development. The NC Japan Center cooperates closely with the NC State University Japanese language program to engage with and support learners of Japanese, while also providing a full range of its own non-credit Japanese language courses to the public.

International Students

The Office of International Services (OIS) is charged with meeting the immigration advising and cross-cultural programming needs for the university's more than 4000 international students and 700 J-1 Exchange Visitor scholars who come from more than 120 different countries. Services provided by OIS include advising students and scholars on immigration regulations and university policies; authorizing certain types of on or off-campus employment authorization for F-1 and J-1 visa holders; and providing cultural programs designed to enrich the cultural and academic experience of the campus community. OIS programs include: New International Student Orientation, Culture Corps, ISSERV service learning program, English Conversation Club, and many others. New international students are required to participate in New International Student Orientation. OIS also provides opportunities for U.S. students to get involved in the international community at NC State by inviting participation in various cross-cultural programs such as volunteering at the International Student Orientation and English Conversation Club.

International applicants must apply to the Admissions Office by the stated deadlines and must meet all the necessary requirements for admission. In addition, international applicants must meet certain language and financial criteria (see the TOEFL and Financial Information sections under Freshman Admission).

The North Carolina Global Training Initiative (GTI) sponsors several short-term certificate, internship, and research programs that international students may be interested in. These full-time non-degree study programs allow international students to study at NC State for one semester in order to learn about U.S. culture and education, improve their conversational English, take undergraduate courses in their field of study back home or in preparation for admission to a degree program here in the U.S., and experience life in the U.S. These programs have a later application deadline and are great for students to take before enrolling in an undergraduate or graduate degree program in the US or for siblings and friends of current degree-seeking students who want to study in the US together.

International students may be interested in joining the GTI's Cultural Exchange Network (CENet). CENet connects NC State's domestic and international students through joint participation in social, academic, and service learning events and workshops. Visit the CENet website (<https://getinvolved.ncsu.edu/organization/cenet/>) for more details about the program and how you can apply.

Anyone interested in the GTI's programs can visit us on our website (<https://gti.ncsu.edu/>) for more information.

The Intensive English Program (Conditional Admission and IEP-only)

The Intensive English Program (IEP) at North Carolina State University is a full-time, non-credit academic program offered to international, non-native English speakers. Its mission is to provide high-quality language instruction to those seeking academic preparation, professional development and/or personal enrichment. Programs of study are offered in the fall, spring, and summer semesters.

In the IEP, students take up to 25 hours per week of intensive language study in all core language skills. Students who enroll in the IEP will be tested for the appropriate level of English instruction when they arrive on campus.

Classes are located on NC State's main campus and nearby on Hillsborough Street. IEP students are also offered the opportunity to participate in numerous cultural enrichment activities designed to help them get to know the surrounding area and interact with other students. Academic coaching (tutoring) is offered to students free of charge.

Students join the IEP as conditionally admitted students or IEP-only students. While the course of instruction is identical for both, IEP-only students are not guaranteed admission to degree programs, but may apply directly to such programs while enrolled in the IEP.

Conditional Admission

For undergraduate applicants who meet the competitive academic requirements for admission, but who do not yet possess the minimum English proficiency requirements for full, direct admission, NC State offers conditional admission. For NC State conditionally admitted students, the IEP provides the opportunity to improve one's English language skills before moving into a degree program.

Successful completion of the IEP requires achieving at least a B or higher in each course, meeting strict attendance obligations, and passing all exit requirements.
